Twice burnt and snatched right out of her arms.
I closed my eyes and had to suffer the consequence.
As I tried and I tried and I tried and tried again.
I taste the soil and digested her soul.
Came close to dying.
That autumn night the winds would whisper.
Of the lies and the cries that dies inside of me.

Can't you see I exist solely for you

Hold hands and then you cut out my heart.
This love is real? I'm born to suffer.
Everything is wrong.
Pushing you further and further and further away from me. Spent time with death down on skid row.
This heart was broke but didn't know.
As I die and I die and I die and die again....

Arms out stretched for love.
Seeds in time will grow someday.
Innocence torn from me without your treasured heart.
In time will heal.
The drought of life is here.

We must rise above our insecurities

One pill can change this all right now
One word could break this all today.
One pill could change this all right now.
But how can I save this world?
One word could break these wall right now today.
Spun in this world wound web
I cannot change these wrongs
You cannot take these scars away from me.

DIE!!
