She was a little green
He was just a little mean

They were together all the time
Somehow no one can forget
This little thing that's on her mind

She would do anything

He kept her on a string
They were together all the time
Somehow no one can forget
This little thing that's on her mind . . .

And it's a waste to wonder what's up heartless sleeves
It takes a lot to get up
And just leave
Those who will only remember you
When you're down
When you re down

She feared what she might bruise
He feared what he might lose
And all she wanted was to leave this all behind
Somehow no one can forget
This little thing that's on her mind
