all your dreams are fading to nothing fading to nothing complacency is killing you slowly taking you over is there something I can say I pray for you, I pray for you
Are you alright my friend couldn't help but notice that you're all alone
all alone
I'm reaching out my hand and hoping that one day you will understand love will lead you home Silently, I hear you crying, there's no use in fighting promises, that fade like the sunset, with nothing but regret
is there something I can say
I pray for you, I pray for you
all alone
stand up and dry your eyes, do not be ashamed there's better days ahead sorrow will pass away theres hope for you and me written in the red
Are you alright my friend
all alone
and hoping that one day you will understand
love will lead you home
