

Summerwake "Brian's Song"

Visit "Brian's Song" on MotoLyrics.com

Like you and all of the others
I once wished for snow in the summer
So I could sleep in and feel normal again, I know
And I ask "why him?", he was just so talented
He could make you laugh if you never did
I cannot believe, this cannot be real

In his eyes, you couldn't see trouble there
His disguise he wore almost everywhere
And I still can't see him taking a leave
And I wish we could have been better friends
Maybe then I could see him sinking in
Maybe not, but I would have tried my best

And he says "lets go, it'll be alright"
This is not the end, he has seen the light
He will shine above for the ones he loves tonight
If I could turn back time I'd have changed his mind
Make him see the world through a brighter light
Take a lesson here, you've always got a way out

Do you see all the ones youve touch
Your soul forever lasts with us
You took a chance to pass the time alone

And he says "lets go, it'll be alright"
This is not the end, he has seen the light
He will shine above for the ones he loves tonight
If I could turn back time I'd have changed his mind
Make him see the world through a brighter light
Take a lesson here, you've always got a way out

Visit Summerwake page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.