Yesterday I saw the sun go down
And feast his rest
Without light I saw his touch the ground
And sleep at last
Together now we take this alone,
Never ever really leaving home
The speed we go amazes me,
Still slow the silent land
The distances we go to
Still spin circles in the end
Together now we take this alone,
Never ever really leaving home
It seems this hurt will never heal
Blessed and cursed the time we steal
Reason seems to hide deep inside of me
Questions never far behind,
Plague my mind
They say you hear, just don't reply
They grasp at straws and so do I
It seems this hurt will never heal
Blessed and cursed the time we steal
Reason seems to hide deep inside of me
Questions never far behind,
Plague my mind
The speed we go amazes me,
Still slow the silent land
The distances we go to
Still spin circles in the end
Together now we take this trip alone,
Never ever really leaving home
