here are my friends
life has put together we don't know where we have met before we got back here the evidence of love is incredible it is maniacal pathetic, hermetical here i'm telling something that's not making us cool cause youth today prefers to hear about those things which fuckin' remove the questions on what really matters in everyday's life why don't you question it for your life?

if i'm alone
if i'm lost
if i got drunk
i can count on my friends and from now on like never before we are the richest cause in pain we'll sing on live together and let the spirits free their emotions fight against the monotonic impositions it's a flight and we're all doing the same so let's feel we're brothers not contenders let's feel we're sister not contenders
