Live your life, have your say
Read your stars, day by day
If I could have anything in the world for free
I wouldn't share it with anyone else but me
Oh, live your life, go your way
And I said oh, no
Live your life, stake your claim
Wash your clothes, change your name
Ooh, and I said oh, no, no
If I could have anything in the world for free
I wouldn't share it with anyone else but me
Ooh, oh
You're too twisted [for help]
Oh, it's [fun in love]
So live your life, build a home
And fill it full of flowers and a bottle of old cologne
Yeah, if I could have anything in the world for free
I wouldn't share it with anyone else but me
Oh, except perhaps a certain someone
Oh, except perhaps a certain someone
Ooh, oh
Except perhaps a certain someone
Except perhaps a certain someone
Except perhaps a certain someone
Just to be sure that I know the way out
You're too twisted [for help]
Oh, it's [fun in love]
Oh, be careful, living in a block of flats
And I never take the lift to the top
No I never take the lift to the top
Oh, you're too twisted [for help]
And oh, it's [fun in love]
Oh, you're too twisted [for help]
[looking back], oh, it's [fun in love]
[take a spin/to be swung] 'round, take a look down
Oh, you'd never believe what we found
We figured it out, we figured it out
We lived in a house
In a cold [room]
