

Sunride "Bluesong"

Visit "Bluesong" on MotoLyrics.com

With eyes open wide. I get up to catch the sunrise
Kiss the night goodbye and miss the dream so undone
Shivers to my core. And I see your rose quite dying
Am I still to see the blue that was flowing inside
Sweet song died fast
But I don't need to replace the gold with clay
Although my red is turning grey
Should I leave this garden now?
When everything to me is dying
In this world of false and fake
I stay here for evermore
Fundamental change.
Self-destructive half with two feet
Poemlike but yet determined to slay this all away
Told me to stick by
See the gap between is closing
Through a tear I see the light that's guiding me someday
Sweet song died fast
But I don't need
To replace the gold with clay
Although my red is turning grey
Should I leave this garden now?
When everything to me is dying
In this world of false and fake
I stay here for evermore

Visit Sunride page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.