

Sunride "Colourblinded"

Visit "Colourblinded" on MotoLyrics.com

I saw you lying in the rain, thought you were struggling in pain
Once again I found out everything you see ain't real I heard you crying like insane, saying me you're the one to blame
Once again I found out everything you hear ain't real If you are here to cause the pain, tell me when you're leaving and I show you the right way
If you are here to make me kneel, tell me when you're done so I can rise and go away Won't you go on home
I see only black and white, no shades of grey
You colourblind me, You colourblind me Am I the one who should give in, force a smile, be the receiving end Everytime I end up being the angel with no wings (I give in)
Am I the one who waves goodbye, when you don't even give a try Everytime I end up being the one who's letting go (I let go)
Won't you go on home
This one time, this one time only. I loose myself, I close my eyes
I see only black and white, no shades of grey
You colourblind me, You colourblind me

Visit Sunride page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.