Hear thee, don't pretend, but listen what she says.
No one is in hurry anyway.
Open thy eyes and see what is to find.
You can't take away something that's mine.
In the center of this all she is standing tall.
And understanding what she's demanding is hard.
Hear thee, can't defend, so listen what she says.
Hand of mercy reaches all the way.
Open thy eyes and find a place to hide.
There is no one without the blue in sight.
In the center of this all she is standing tall.
And understanding what she's demanding is hard.
Judging all the world, she won't be unheard.
And understanding what she's demanding is hard
