The hallway, cold and gray and walls are made of stone.

My thoughts are with her as I take this on alone.

You're motivation for whatever I do,
And wheels of fire will not keep me from you.

Foreboding castles but I must be quick and strong.
He took my princess but he won't have her for long.

You're motivation for whatever I do,
And pools of lava will not keep me from you, from you

So many ways to go and now time is running out.
So many doors to pick and now time is running out.
There's only one path to choose and that's what this is all about.
So many ways to go and now time is running out.

I know I'm closer as the floor is clearly red.
But I'm a bit too slow, a hammer hits my head.
When I awake, the final task is what I see.
A mutant dragon who has set his sights on me.

You're motivation for whatever I do,
And giant lizards will not keep me from you.
