Making sense of what I've heard
And what is on my mind
Well, don't look down
'Cause it's far to fall

Count the hours, face the fear
It's all you need these days
We're past the post
And through the door

We hail commercial suicide
Kiss the love, you leave behind
And let it bother you
Well, you do what it takes to get what you can

Last night, I thought about her
[Incomprehensible] love and what I do
It's hanging over me
I'm sure to break your loving heart

I'm down and take a walk down
A sugar coated sonified
And I've been hanging around for hours
Staring at your holy ground

Last night in northern Hollywood
Thinking about the harder times
I might've known that you'd be Tearing up the photographs

Well, at sight of all I've done been taken down for higher ground
[Incomprehensible], China dolls and better times
This side of life is always over the head is watching you
You know this living hell, solid gold coming for no one
