Ever wondered how we all get through
Maybe someone's watching over you
All the shit that we face everyday
It somehow works itself out anyway

In the back of a stolen car
Doing 80 with the headlights off
That's when I needed you

Ever wondered how we all get through
Maybe someone's watching over you
When the ground is falling fast beneath
You somehow find yourself back on your feet

In the middle of a shady bar
Broken bottles flying through the air
That's when I needed you

Out of my sorrows
Living out of hollow steel
I look through the old photos
For hours and hours

In the back of a stolen car
Doing 80 with the headlights off
That's when I needed you, oh
That's when I needed you
