I walk around this town as buildings close and windows are boarded
I think about you
When I hear a door slam in the wind and the glass on the mat says welcome
I think about you

Sitting inside my head, Laughing at what I said
Come on baby let's have another toast
You might think I'm dense, laughing at my expense
Fill the cup let's wash away the ghost

In this ghost town where we live there's a wanted poster of you on every corner She keeps asking me 'who's that' and 'what's her name?'
But I choke on every letter, as the glass flies off the table
I keep telling her I ain't the one to blame

Sitting inside my head, Laughing at what I said
Come on baby let's have another toast
You might think I'm dense, laughing at my expense
Fill the cup let's wash away the ghost

I left when I was gone, I didn't feel a thing I didn't think you'd haunt me this long after
But the buildings crumble down, as I run from the town
I hear you breathe and I listen to your laughter

Sitting inside my head, Laughing at what I said
Come on baby let's have another toast
You might think I'm dense, laughing at my expense
Fill the cup let's wash away the ghost

I walk around this town as buildings close and windows
are boarded
I think about you
When I hear a door slam in the wind and the glass on the mat says Welcome
I think about you
