"Devour Delight"

Visit "Devour Delight" on MotoLyrics.com

To walk in the sun when one can
The sun, the other side of shade
To walk in the shade when one can
The shade, the shadow darkly made

Delight, delight in the world that is laid for delight for the seekers of delight Devour, devour the world that is framed by tongue and tooth and vicious appetite

To swim with the tide when one can
The tide, the land tide, the sea tide
To swim 'gainst the tide when one can
The pushing of the water's watery binds

Delight, delight in the world that is laid for delight for
the seekers of delight
Devour, devour the world that is framed by tongue and
tooth and vicious appetite

To walk in the sun when one can
The sun, the other side of shade
To walk in the shade when one can
The shade, the shadow darkly made

Delight, delight in the world that is laid for those who swim or walk or run or fly by night Devour, devour the world that is framed for those refusing to see what's not in plain sight

Delight, delight in the world that is laid for delight for
the seekers of delight
Devour, devour the world that is framed by tongue and
tooth and vicious appetite
