They say that nothing last forever and that all good things must end but where would we be in this life when there's nothing left what would I have left

Forever I will be there I'll be by your side to show you that I care forever through the changes through the years and the pain my love remains the same.....forever

Can't look back now you know it's just a waste of time searching for the answers to the questions locked up deep inside

Dont turn your back on me I will help you find your way

Forever I will be there I'll be by your side to show you that I care forever through the changes through the years and the pain my love remains the same...forever

Forever.....Forever.....

They say that nothing last forever.....and that all good things must end.....

Forever I will be there I'll be by your side to show you that I care forever through the changes through the
years and the pain my love remains the same....forever
