CHORUS:

When your secrets unfold, your heart aches
When your secrets untold, your heart breaks
And when the truth can be told, then love takes
A different turn for you and I

You should have been here with me
Just to walk and hold my hand
You could have been here with me
Walking footprints in the sand
You would have been home last night
Just to softly call my name
Things would never be the same

CHORUS

You should have been here with me
Catching rainbows in the sky
You could have been here with me
Climbing every mountain high
You would have come home last night
Just to watch the sun come up
And our love would never be enough

If you and I (if you and I)
Could erase time (could erase time),
Things would be better (things would be better)
Better (so much better)
If it could be (if it could be)
Just you and me (just you and me),
Love would be sweeter as the days go by
Into the realm (into the realm)
Where love is held (where love is held),
We've got to go on, let secrets go

When the truth can be told, then love takes
A different turn for you and I

You should have been here with me
Just to walk and hold my hand
I needed you here with me
Walking footprints in the sand
You would have been home last night
Where were you?
Things will never be the same
