Shadows form a web across the sky and steal the light that runs the engine of my heart Deceived by clouds but I know it will soon return to watch my every move like an eye in the sky
Lunatic
Obsessed I am indeed I will gain no strength this moonless night heavens heart or just a forgotten stone all life lost or is it yet to come the stars will be alone in the firmament tonight shadows grow stronger across the sky the sun prepares for battle the night is soon to die vicious beams will soon obscure the presence of the sun of the night my soul despise the dawning and the light that it will bring doomed to be nocturnal a creature of the night another dawn dilutes the dark the void where I can live the rays of light burn my skin and ravage my desire I close my eyes and I await the vengeance soon to come when the dusk will bring the unlight and heal me once again
I have to return to my tower before the twilight will drain me of life tomorrow I need to be caressed by the moonlit sky or my soul will be carried away by the light just like the sun of the night the moon is mine oh how I long to be one with the sun of the night oh how I long to unite with the sun of mine
