[Spoken]

And what will you say when the great faceless mass comes crawling, on it's own Initiative? What will you say to that?

Well, a crowd is easier to control than individual. A crowd has a common Purpose; the purpose of an individual is always in question.

[Conscience aka Treefrog]

We can place the blame, but it stays the same
Remain in chains as we pray for change
Make us all forget about the basic things
Like this place I been where the lakes and streams Connect as one body of an ancient being
And let the suns hot beams wake your dreaming
Embrace the feeling, taste the freedom
Replace the seedlings that we take from Eden
Cuz they grow to become what we're make-believing
And our souls will be numb if we take this beating Harass your brain with ascertain, MacDonald's beef, and acid rain
Don't follow sheep, unlash the gates, and we'll all fall asleep
And pass away
My policy's to relax and play, cuz we'll all be free in the last of days

[Mos Eisley]

Scenes in the withering rain
Seem like a sad movie's refrain
But tame moments in a life obscure
Despite the blur I reply "affirmative sir!"
My head to the pleasure of clouds
In an effort to move the crowds
Wipe sweat from my weathered brow
Better reload the tank and crank it to loud
Smell the daffodils lying in the grasses
Under shrapnel of a cold-blooded fascist
Pay your taxes, release from laxatives
Stuck in class living life like a masochist

Travel the caverns within a psycho babble
Just words from the herds 'a grazing cattle
Fuck it
Change the channel shift the tides
Shake the lives of those who don't abide

[Chorus]

We work, we breathe we eat we sleep the earth
The trees we need to keep observe then breathe in deep
To speak these words
We work we breathe we eat we sleep the earth
The trees we need to keep observe then breathe in
deep
To speak these words
These words

[Dusty Melodica]

I was born, a child of his own, sworn to exile and a broken home
Dysfunctional prone, I come on like so?
All alone and own the throne through the unknown
Now if only the sun, shined on my sill
I might of cherished love and follow my free will
The evil within, cause people live in sin
Yo we're like "mine a' kin's don't manage a grin"
I cannot defend, or even pretend
I like the trend of this life again
So I fight with my pen to enlighten a friend Niggaz by my right to spy to my defend
And even light can bend I'm type to condemn
And every cent we spend can prevent the end
Extend my hand and defend the plan
We can mend the dam if we understand

[Metty the DertMerchant]

Don't you want more from a lifetime of toil
Than a pension plan, an pipelines 'a oil?
The right kinda soil, love the earth and grass
Learn the different between old birch and ash
Most working class folks are getting raw
Every Fred and Bob's got dead-end job
Go to school for degrees, pay your dues and fees
Diploma on your wall but still short on rent
See you choose to believe all the news that you read
Think you know it all but feel sort of empty
Mortal men bleed and live a cruel joke
While resorts for MC's get ridiculed most These lyrics show quote ain't false alarms
It's a call to arms, from the mall to farms
Small or large, we're all part of the rhythm

We're all in charge of this garden we're given

deep

To speak these words

deep

To speak these words

These words

We work

We breathe

We eat

We sleep

The earth

The trees

We need

To keep

Observe

Then breathe

In deep

To speak

These words
