If you don't care for anyone else
And the goin' gets rough
You spend your energies to please yourself
It sure gets tough
When you can never get enough
Keep on seeking
You will only find
That it's a never-ending search
But if a man could only give up his pride
He'd begin to learn that freedom will never be earned
When you've got

More than you need
But less than you want
You know it's gonna drive you to your knees
You've got more than you need
But less than you want
I guess there's just no satisfying greed

Take a gamble, you just have to win
When there's nothing left to lose
You're feeling helpless, and it's not a sin
But sometimes when you're used
Now don't you get the two confused
When you've got

More than you need
But less than you want
You know it's gonna drive you to your knees
You've got more than you need
But less than you want
I guess there;s just no satisfying greed

When life's so troubled that you feel like givin' in Because it hurts so much
The autumn leaves have got you thinkin' again
You never were that strong
You shoud've known it all along

The day you've finally given up on yourself
And there's nowhere left to go

You'll discover that you need Somebody else
Someone who will care
And He'll be there to let you know
And He'll be

All that you need
And all that you want
I pray it's gonna drive you to you knees
he'll be all that you need
And all that you want
The only One who sets you mind at ease

He'll be all that you need
And all that you want
