I watched the lights out on the harbor,
Saw the sun rise on the water.
I felt the waves of desperation,
And spent the day in contemplation.

Valerie, you always told me,
The love I seek, someday would hold me.
Valerie, Valerie, a change in me has been in the making.

While gazing down at my reflection,
I clearly saw my life's direction.
I thought about the things you said to me,
The simple promise that you read to me.

Valerie, you always told me,
The love I seek, it someday would mold me.
Valerie, Valerie, a change in me has been in the making.

I saw a vision on the harbor,
A man was walking on the water.
I felt the waves in sweet salvation,
And spent the day in celebration.

Valerie, you always told me,
The love I seek, would someday enfold me.
Valerie, just had to tell you,
Now I know, the love that compelled you.

Valerie - Valerie.
