What's it gonna take to slow us down
To let the silence spin us around?
What's it gonna take to drop this town?
We've been spinning at the speed of sound

Stepping out of those convenience stores
What could we want but more, more, more?
From the third world to the corporate core
We are the symphony of modern humanity, yeah

If we're adding to the noise
Turn off this song
If we're adding to the noise
Turn off your stereo, radio, video

I don't know what they're gonna think of next
Genetic engineers of the most high tech
A couple new ways to fall in debt
I'm a nervous wreck but I'll bet that that TV set

Tells us what we wanted to hear
But none of these sound bites are coming in clear
From the third world to the corporate ear
We are the symphony of modern humanity yeah

If we're adding to the noise
Turn off this song
If we're adding to the noise
Turn off your stereo, radio

If we're adding to the noise
Turn off this song
If we're adding to the noise
Turn off your stereo, radio

Stereo, radio, stereo, radio
Stereo, radio, stereo, radio
Stereo, radio

If we're adding to the noise
Turn off this song
If we're adding to the noise

Turn off your stereo, radio

If we're adding to the noise

If we're adding to the noise

If we're adding to the noise

Turn off this song
