"Let That Be Enough"

Let that be enough I wish had what I needed to be my own
'Cause I feel defeated and I'm feeling alone And it all seems so helpless and I'm have no plans I'm a plane in the sunset with no where to land and all I see it it could never make me happy and all my sand castles Spend their time collapsing let me know that you hear me
Let me know your touch let me know that you love me and let that be enough's my birthday tomorrow no one here could know I was born this Thursday 22 years ago And I feel stuck Watching history repeating Yeah, who am I?
Just a kid who knows he's needy let me know that you hear me
let me know that you touch
let me know that you love me and let that be enough...
