Send out to war in the middle of nowhere
Licensed to kill and a long way from home
War; slaughters the earth
War; you're sent to the front
And your life is fading away
There is no coming back
So prepare for the final attack
This child unborn holds a terrible curse
Where time stands still he's a soldier at work
War; slaughters the heart
War; sent to the front
And your life is fading away
There's no coming back, you will die
In the land of the brave
In the land of the brave,
It's the land of the grave
And now the end has become part of us
The earth is black and battle is lost
War, surrenders the earth, war, sent to the front
And your life is fading away, there is no coming back
We all die in the land of the brave,
It's the land of the grave
No coming back so prepare for the final attack
