We're drown in pure suffering Collapsing into decay
All things now turn to ashes and dust
We 're falling down

We desappear now, our existence will end, so vain
This is the last second we share, we 're burning... fast

Our tears are solidified
In the breath of vanity
We've lost all chance to exit,
We have no place to hide

We desappear now, our existence will end, so vain
This is the last second we share, we 're burning...

There's no more love, there's no more pain, no more
reason to remain
The flames will clear all delusion here, confused, we watch the world's demise
There's no more love, there's no more pain, no more
reason to remain
The flames will clear all delusion here...

The sky is turning
To cold obsidian light
The flashligh of destruction has risen
To burst our eyes

We desappear now, our existence will end, so vain
This is the last second we share, we 're burning...

There's no more love, there's no more pain, no more
reason to remain
The flames will clear all delusion here, confused, we
watch the world's demise
There's no more love, there's no more pain, no more
reason to remain
The flames will clear all delusion here, next day will never come

We'll never see the future

We succumb, our hollow lives Turn to negative scan of flesh, distorted

There's no more love, there's no more pain, no more
reason to remain

The flames will clear all delusion here, confused, we
watch the world's demise

There's no more love, there's no more pain, no more
reason to remain

The flames will clear all delusion here, next day will
never come
