Torn from within disciple until the end Wasting time is how it's always been Kiss the floor steal the key lock the door there's many ways to decline
Bonafide crucified in your prime that you left behind...
Twilight explodes in my time of the blind
You can't postpone some tomorrow
Just one more wishbone
Broken days pumping through your veins Shattered thoughts are gone but the reflection always stays
Losing sight losing sight without a fight that once was a war
Now you got 1000 scars and nothing to show them for Twilight explodes in my time of the blind
You can't postpone some tomorrow
Just one more wishbone
In between surrender sight unseen
Split the seam when no one intervenes Feel the kick from the hearless heretic that once made you shine
Now you're grounded down for the last time shut your eyes to the crime
Twilight explodes in my time of the blind
You can't postpone some tomorrow
Just one more wishbone
Just one more wishbone
