There's something about the sun today,
Is it summer is it autumn rain?
Skin and sin come around, the best of flesh is out

There's something about the moon and the stars,
The nexus thing are living on Mars
when the summer comes and when the water runs.

Space and time are parallel, there's many worlds that I can tell,
They are way beyond, the darkest skies, we are not alone and we can fly
We locate, investigate other worlds and other states
Information coming in, there's no relation no mistake.

There's something about the moon and the stars,
The nexus thing are living on Mars
When the summer comes and when the water runs.

We synchronize our lives to there,
We drain good nights, the price put in We compromised in-amplified time (time, time, time)

Space and time are parallel, there's many worlds that I can tell of,
They are way beyond, the darkest skies, we are not alone and we can fly
We locate, investigate other worlds and other states
Information coming in, there's no relation no mistake.

There's something about the moon and the stars,
