Our days are numbered now, all life is crumbling
No one will open their minds and see they are stuck in their own religion
They live in the past judge everyone to escape self conviction
No one will remember us, No one will bury us We'll betray ourselves again, we will never learn our lesson
All we breath is hate, hate Those days are gone forever, look up and forget the past, there is no hope for our future, we will burn in our own flames
They have a death grip on their ignorance with a soul of vengeance
Everyone has a secret and a dark side
That they try to hide
That they deny
That they deny
No one will open their minds and realize that we are all messed up
We weren't designed for peace, we're stuck in a world of hatred,
Everyday we destroy one another cause we don't understand each other
Our days are numbered now, all life is crumbling
No one will remember us, No one will bury us
