Close my eyes and turn inside.
Upon the frozen paths behind.
Secret doors so often closed.
Still it's them I use the most.
Silver ice my mirror hall.
Come with me right through the wall.
Everything here is for real.
And it's all for you and me...

In the distant far away.
You can always hear them say.
That the stars are shining bright.
And I seek them every night.
On our winding road days are long.
After sleep we carry on.
Everything here is for real.
So many things we have not seen...

Left upon an empty shore.
And my soul cries out for more.
Where's the rain you said they'll send.
Are you thirsty too my friend?
Fill my lungs with evening air.
While I beg myself to dare.
The stars are whispering to the sea.
And it's all for you and me.
The stars are whispering to the sea.
And it's all for you and me...
