This is my home, you made it a strange place I've seen more hypocrisy from the working man up to the mighty
All taught to worship greed
Tell me where they're going for I just cannot see

I hope we find a way
And reason to ensure
We don't live in a strange place anymore

How high we fly, now time to look inside
A distorted and monstrous need to gather all we see You'll have to suffer little children for nobody may heed

I hope we find a way
And reason to ensure
We don't live in a strange place anymore

I hope we find a way
And reason to ensure
That we don't live in a strange place anymore

We walk and we talk those little white lies
But it still ain't the place that I saw with my eyes
Got a new ideal, a god that's real
A temple to count in for all to kneel
It's the dinosaur of our decency
It just thrashes and dies in agony
What I thought is correct has been taken away
This is a strange place today
