How sweet is music to a deaf man's ear
Tell me who could dream sweet dreams in this world of fear
How beautiful is love, When you can't see that far
Wish a wish with me on that falling star
In my dreams
One thing never changes in my dreams

It's still the same
Only the faces change in my dream
Only the faces change in my dream
I can't find no one to blame
It's still the same
Only the faces change in my dream
Only the faces change in my dream
I can't find no one to blame
So little in my world so small
So big in my world so tall
Everthing matters but nothing matters at all
Nothing matters at all

Look through my window , I watched you say goodbye
You didn't hear me cry you didn't see me die
This living nightmare, will it ever end
Will I find a friend will I live again

In my dreams
On thing never changes in my dreams

It's still the same
Only the faces change in my dream
Only the faces change in my dream
I can't find no one to blame
It's still the same
Only the faces change in my dream
