Here you are, again. Sitting at our place with him,
Can't believe that you would be so cold,
I know that you wanna be,
With somebody new and that's cool with me,
But this right here is just so cold.

Didn't I give you all the things that I said I would,
Didn't I take you to the places that I said I would,
Didn't I give you the love that I said I would,
Tell me how could you go,

And give my love away,
And give my love away,
And give my love away,
And give my love away,
And give my love away,
And give my love away,
So cold.

How could you give him all the love that I gave you How could you show him all the things that I showed you
How could you take him to the places that I took you
So cold

I'm hoping now my eyes to see cause this really can't be what I see,
I won't believe that you would be so cold.
The house we bought for you and I. that we made love is where he lies,
But this right here is just so cold.

Didn't I give you all the things that I said I would,
Didn't I take you to all the places that I said I would,
Didn't I give you the love that I said I would,
Tell me how could you go

And give my love away
And give my love away
And give my love away
And give my love away
And give my love away

And give my love away
Tell me how could you go
