I've been here before
It's hard to ignore
I'm so used to fighting
The same old wars
Oh what do You see when You're looking at me
Have I taken You for granted
I can't afford this pain anymore
Won't You help me understand it
God can You hear me
I need You here tonight
I'm tired of pretending that everything's alright
And I know, I know that You hold tomorrow
But I need You here tonight
I want to feel I need something real
I want to get closer to You
I lay down my will
Oh this human disease it's killing me
Tell me have I been left stranded
I can't ignore this pain anymore
Won't You help me understand it
God can You hear me
I need You here tonight
I'm tired of pretending that everything's alright
And I know, I know that You hold tomorrow
But I need You here
Say won't You say that You'll carry me
Carry me through the storm
Please stay
Won't You stay till the morning comes
Morning comes
Just stay...
