Shadows in the Night
Can't hide the pain of your love
So you run to the morning light

When did it get this crazy girl
It seems like years since yesterday
A jealous man tried to make you understand
Love's supposed to feel this way

But with every setting sun
Your world is coming undone...

Shadows in the Night
Can't hide the pain of your love
So you run for the morning light
From Shadows In the Night

How many times you've tried to change your world
Just close your eyes and dream away
A chilling rain to wash away your streets of pain
It wasn't meant to end this way

A shattered glass, a smoking gun nightfall,
Back on the run

Shadows in the Night
Can't hide the pain of your love
So you run for the morning light
From Shadows In the Night
