people made to feel guilty for the inequality of a systme they played no part in creating made to blame themselves for the shortcomings of a society that makes it's description of success unattainable

create a society where human misery and poverty are repugnant to that society not an indication of a lack of initiative create a scoiety based on people not enterprise the future this society offers is none the society that offers non deserves none every institution used to oppress or pacify must be completely destroyed burn the welfare offices, prisons, trade unions there is nothing sacred about these institutions they all play a part in maintaining the prison that some call america
