Got the shades pulled down
He's all by himself now
Swallowing the pill that makes him feel alive
Is it getting better?
No, it made things so much worse
As it slowly slips inside his head
Through his nerves
And spilling out in verbs

Take a look at your faces
You've got everyone all shook up
Take a look at your faces
You've got everyone, everyone
It's not the same when all you want is never hard to get to
Take a look at your faces
Now they're haunting you!

Then he'll light the match
That will burn him brightest Slides the needle in
That will make him highest
Another star struck down, another symbol of our time
I always knew it would turn against him
But now he's got those big headlines

Take a look at your faces
You've got everyone all shook up
Take a look at your faces
You've got everyone, everyone
It's not the same when all you want is never hard to get
to
Take a look at your faces
Now they're haunting you!

Take a look, take a look, take a look at yourself!

Can anybody find the man he used to be?
Can anybody find the man before the dream?

Take a look at your faces
You've got everyone all shook up

Take a look at your faces
You've got everyone, everyone
It's not the same when all you want is never hard to get
to
Take a look at your faces
Now they're haunting you!
