"Hours"

We are the young ones

Always counting on the other side
There's no need for us holding the line
It feels stronger now, we're alive and It's time for us to get on the ride
Pass it forward to the weary kind
Send a message, give them a sign
This is better for you and it's better for us
You have to listen now

Make a statement for another time
We're the heroes just longing to find
Understanding eyes
Give them hell if there's no reason to cry
Show some heart, be a leader in life
Take part in the greatest fight
We are falling in love but we're not getting hurt

Hours passing by wondering why we're still alive Desperation calls waiting for the night, straight into the night
