We pass through like a nightmare falling down
Without touching the ground
These ghost and vacant eyes deceive thee
They've come to take me without words and silence

With a hand now crushing hope this late kiss
You've come to make this my last night home

We're promised everything the necklace and those things you made
Will go with me an everywhere I go
It's not the end, I won't pretend it's impossible
To fix what can't be broke

I'm breathless and disconnected
Take me home so far away from here
Take me slow, I can't stand one more year
Take my breath away, wake me up today
I will return for you

Well, now I've seen the world through eyes of bitter hate
And lies and now, I can't stand what I have become Was there something I missed? Can you replay this kiss?
And the ghost sought by my side

I'm breathless and disconnected
Take me home so far away from here
Take me slow, I can't stand one more year
Take my breath away, wake me up today
I will return for you

Take me home so far away from here
Take me slow, I can't stand one more year
Take my breath away, wake me up today
I will return for you

I won't forget those times we spent
Cutting our silhouette, waking up nights again
I am afraid because I'm open and undone

I won't forget those things you said
A stab to the heart and head, killing without an end
I am afraid because I'm open and undone

Take me home so far away from here
Take me slow, I can't stand one more year
Take my breath away, wake me up today
I will return for you

Take me home so far away from here
Take me slow, I can't stand one more year
Take my breath away, wake me up today
I will return for you

We pass through like a nightmare falling down
Without touching the ground
These ghost and vacant eyes deceive thee
They've come to take me without words and silence
