on a grey day, as the city chills cool wind blows in from patch work hills my stomach stretched and milky white upon my single bed i write, on a grey day, reds late at grooves square curtained eyes pair in my room open the window, a breeze seems to say pullin tendons of my hair

come out to play on a grey day, i watched you lie, wake up beautiful boy don't sleep through my cryin' long lashes restin' on sculptured cheeks we take it slow but days turn into weeks on a grey day, i could stay like this forever one naked lavishing the two of us together i'm a snip of a girl, wanting to smother ya skin ya lovin' me but not really lovin' me with in still, destined as the eyes like the rain i see hanging on my fields at the end of my street.

you know i'm blockin out, you tell me not to care only needin' ya knowledge, of ya presesence; here.

on a grey day, rains sprains through collected clouds, the sky cries as a trickle of tears rain down blinding our emotions, defining our slumber baby gurl in your embrace turns her face, i'm goin' under what am i gonna do with you, he whispers my name and the winds hystirecal sound makes me wonder the same he says i'm not romantic, he tells me i'm sweet, and here he won't stay with me.

one naked lavishing the two of us together

hanging on my fields at the end of my street.
only needin' ya knowledge, of ya presesence; here.

on a grey day, i wandered; clothes damp and cold watchin' umbrellas scurry by my steps, deliberate and slow
not really knowin, where i was goin', covered streets, intracet beats, the river flowin' who cares, and who knows? the question mark tattooed, right there on my brain, and baby the artist was you.

one naked lavishing the two of us together
hanging on the fields at the end of my street.
you know i'm blockin out, you tell me not to care only needin' ya knowledge, of you here.

on a grey day, like this i could stay like this forever
one naked lavishing the two of us together
i'm a snip of a girl, wanting to smother ya skin but you don't love me within still, destined as the eyes like the rain i see
hanging on my fields at the end of my street.
only needin' needin' needin' you, here.

oh here x 2

needin' you, needin' you, needin' you here.

oh whoa, whoa on this grey, grey, grey, grey, grey day.
