You were young and so naive
Was a murder in the 1st degree, yeah
I couldn't help the beating of my heart
It was something made in heaven
That was something I couldn't resist, no
And nothing could ever pull our world apart
But you cried in the rain, played the fool, yeah
And I'm still running to you
Time after time I tell you I'm sorry
Those are the words I'm saying to you time after time
You were, I was given one more try
Gave your body and soul desire
I did my best to win your love again
But I didn't see it coming
It came up from behind
And left me lying, left me lying for dead
Just when it seemed you were missing
You're begging to come in
Time after time you tell me you're sorry
Those are the words I'm hearing again
Time after time there's no need to worry
Love will return time after time
No matter what you say, I know you'll be back again
Time after time you tell me you're sorry
Those are the words I'm hearing again
Time after time there's no need to worry
Love will return time after time
Time after time say that you're leaving
Those are the words I'm hearing, hearing again
Time after time I can't stop believing
Love will return time after time
