I see it's clear in your eyes
We've been through this before
No need to fabricate this war

To worlds exist and fall apart
To fantasies expire
The question is love worth fighting for?

Have I lost all my faith
How do I really know?

We sail on troubled waters to reach a sacred land
Who knows the sunshine from the rain?
We ride on troubled waters, we need a higher plan
To know the pleasure from the pain

I see no rhyme or reason
Beyond all fantasy
Only the lonely understand

Are destinies decided?
One touch can change it all
We're strangers in a stranger land

Have we lost all our pride
How do we really know?

We sail on troubled waters to reach a sacred land
Who knows the sunshine from the rain?
We ride on troubled waters, we need a higher plan
To know the pleasure from the pain

Have I lost all my faith
How do I really know?

We sail on troubled waters to reach a sacred land
Who knows the sunshine from the rain?
We ride on troubled waters, we need a higher plan
To know the pleasure from the pain
