Look around you, can't you see?
That death is coming, either hope or burn.
Hope or burn.
The time will come when you can't inhale.
And all you have is left, behind.
And you were so sure...

Your choice.
Death's time is ever drawing near.
Think of when you're gone.
Let it drive your fear.
This is your task at hand.
Don't let them pull you down their path.
Pull them into yours.
Consume their lives.

You must grasp time or pay the price.
You'll understand when it's time.
The pain will grow.
Peace will disappear into to your Hell.

Throw away your past.
Bring in new hope.
Look past what you've done.

Look around you, can't you see?
That death is coming, either hope or burn.
Hope or burn.
The time will come when you can't inhale.
And all you have is left, behind.
And you were so sure...

I watch you run the race of life.
I know, now, you can't make it alone.
If you think that your that strong.
You can breathe but you won't live.
Swallow your pride and bask in truth.
Turn to Him.
