You don't even know me
You don't seem to care
If my actions are revealing
Words my mouth can't find to share

'Cuz in my heart
I wanted to believe
In me and you
But my mind knew the reality
An ill fated dream
A vision only I could see
I can't make you love me
Though I want to
But you soon will see

That I could've, should've been your wife
And I would've loved you for life
But you were just too blind to see
So haa now you're missin' me

My poor little baby
You let me walk away
I just slipped right through your fingers
I bet you wish I would've stayed
'Cuz now that it's slapped you in the face
You want me back
But that's something time won't replace
Lucky you 'cuz you're the one
Who gets to play the fool
You should've loved me
When you had me
'Cuz now you will see

That I could've, should've been your wife
And I would've loved you for life
But you too blind to see
So haa now you're missin' me

You came like a thief in the night
Crept in casually
You stole my heart
You stole my soul

But I would've gave it for free
Much too late the damage is done
There ain't no turnin back
Save your excuses save your tears
'Cuz I got no time for that
'Cuz I just wanted to love you
And I wanted to believe
Your kisses were so sweet to me
But now there's a bitter taste
And your words they sound like the melody
Of a broken record playing

I could've, should've been your wife
And I would've loved you for life
But you were just so blind to see
So haa now you're missin' me

You don't have to to call
Don't pick up the phone
I don't wanna hear your voice
Just leave me alone
See you baby
Farewell my baby
