"It Bleeds Inside"

Can't close my eyes as darkness
Is slowly invading the room
Too many things are burning my mind
It bleeds inside
Can't fight the fucking time
It's running and running again
Too fast for me, too far from me
My mind 's already trapped

Motionless body
Floating in my own spirit
And as the wind becomes my cradle
I feel rocked by the drafts
I sink inside of me
To submerged lands of my being
The blurred is dispelling
All around me, I begin to see...

Not that place again
I have been there before
It is born from pain
See souls crawl on the floor
It's something I fear
I can't stand this anymore
It's some shit I'll seal
That's what I'm craving for

A place where torment reigns
It's crown is made of bones
As I wander in this
Vision of horror I realize...
Nightmare! It has just begun
Will it last forever?

Am I here forever?
... And ever...
How can I escape? My mind is trapped
Will it last forever? It bleeds inside!
