Small command that opend the door Drew away the curtain, I had to assign Into a forest I've never seen before One million pixels in a line Dark dark dark Is the road to my heat Sun sun sun Where are you gone 2000 miles following the passage Screens in malfunction, lost the key 2000 years waiting for a message A tired old man, looking at me Dark dark dark

Found myself in the middle of the forest Off from my hand, the data-glove Down on my knees, into the forest And in the sky was written "LOVE" There's a hole inside my brain And the sky turns black again There's a rain in the middle of my brain Putting out fire that tried to burn Dark dark dark
