

Deine Lakaien

"Through The Hall"

Visit "Through The Hall" on MotoLyrics.com the deep voice said they have arrived did you decant the special wine for our dear guest from 2009 completely changed the things tonight

a pinch of powder
will change our night
their visit will set us free
a pinch of powder
will improve our lives
finally will set us free

through the darkening hall we move and out of sight we keep what little light what little light there is along the walls where the portraits are hanging high up in the gloom
we are waiting for our guest this is your world you want to stay the same forever and a day but something's changed you can't deny for someone out there is telling lies

a pinch of powder
will change our night
their visit will set us free
a pinch of powder
will improve our lives
finally will set us free

through the darkening hall
we move and out of sight we keep
what little light what little light
there is along the walls
where the portraits are hanging
high up in the gloom
we are waiting for our guest

silver and gold our guest will bring sit down and touch the mighty ring can not await and can't deny just take a look these hungry eyes

a pinch of powder
will change our night
their visit will set us free
a pinch of powder
will improve our lives
finally will set us free

through the darkening hall
we move and out of sight we keep
what little light what little light
there is along the walls
where the portraits are hanging
high up in the gloom
we are waiting for our guest

Visit Deine Lakaien page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.