Here we are in each others' arms
Closer than the stars that lay against the sky Trembling hands soft against our skin, guide us once again
As We find our way to love

The soft light from the window creeps across the room
to lay against your face aglow
But even in the dark I know that both our hearts would tell our lips right where to go Cause I love you so

Here we are in lovin' arms so tight Make me feel tonight like I've never felt before Then my love will open up our eyes, together one more time
We will find our way to love

The soft light from the window creeps across the room
to lay against your face aglow
tell our lips right where to go Cause I need you so

Here we are
