Standing on a land unknown interpreting the same
Believing in a chance of hope and see it slowly fade It's breaking far away replacing what I'm made of

Looking for a way to show that I'm Searching for a faith who knows that I'm Screaming for a place to go, 'cause I'm drowning in the violent seas
Of being force fed societies Shallow end of misery please take me away 'cause I can't
Stay looking for a way to show that i'm okay
Screaming for a place like home

Treading in the fears I own of ending up ashamed
While cornered in this life and prone
By overbearing waves
That steal what I have saved replacing what I gave up

Away, far away
