It's alright, it's ok
I only feel like this today
Tomorrow I won't be the same
And it's ok, it's alright
I only feel like this tonight
And I trust that when the ends are frayed
Whatever's left will be saved
It will be saved

I turn to the side to avoid your burn
And the things you think I haven't heard
And no, I haven't heard
You turn to the side to exhaust
You're exhausted of the things you think I'll never learn
And no, I'll never learn

You watched from afar and I had no idea
And I, too, hate goodbyes
But you disappeared saying
Breath out
Don't let the world bring you down
Maybe it's no use to care, but I do
So breath out

To know where this whirlwind will end is to see
That where you end I begin

I turn to the side to avoid your burn
And the things you think I haven't heard
And no, I haven't heard
You turn to the side to exhaust
You're exhausted of the things you think I'll never learn
And no, I'll never learn
But where you end I begin
Where you end, I begin

So breath out
Don't let the world bring you down
Maybe it's no use to care, but I do
So breath out
