I got a lying smile I never put out for you Cuz I guess I never felt like I really needed to
And they say little girls have big dreams
And nothing in the world was going to come between me and you

And it was a long time coming
I waited half my life just to find someone like you
I spent a long time finding out
Love hangs around after you walk out
Not knowing, it'd be a long time going
They say it's better to have lost than never to have loved at all

And I say whoever said that didn't have to far to fall
And they say little girls are so naïve
That wasn't how it was supposed to be
With me and you

And it was a long time coming
I waited half my life just to find someone like you
I spent a long time finding out
love hangs around after you walk out
Not knowing, it'd be a long time going
I burned my bridges, had sleepless nights
Washed my sins on the neon lights
And I'm still not over you

And it was a long time coming
I waited half my life just to find someone like you
I spent a long time finding all
The things around after you walk out
Not knowing, it would be a long time going
A long time going
And it would be a long time, long time going
It would be a long time, long time going
